

blue, purple and pink

i painted you the color of the universe.

so beautiful

so infinite

that no one can and will never say that they fully explored you that you are not so full of mysteries that you're not a wonder.

i am an astronaut

willing to try

to go home

to you

to the stars

i am willing to stay afloat

in all of your deepest, darkest places

let me come home.